

Award for Cambridge Handbook of Intercultural Training, 4th Ed.

From: Dan Landis

Aloha Louise, The IP group might be interested to know that the Cambridge Handbook of Intercultural Training, 4th Ed. (co-edited by Dharm Bhawuk and myself) has been awarded the 2020-2021 Gudykunst Award for the best book on intercultural relations. The Award is presented by the International Academy for Intercultural Research.

The Citation that accompanied the award is attached. Feel free to distribute on the listserv.

Thanks

Dan Landis

Affiliate Professor of Psychology, University of Hawaii

Emeritus Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Professor of Psychology, University of Mississippi

Emeritus Shirley Bach Research Professor, Defense Equal Opportunity Management Institute

Founder and Editor-in-Chief (1977-2011), International Journal of Intercultural Relations

Founding President (1997-2005), International Academy for Intercultural Research

2012 Award for Distinguished Contributions to the International Advancement of Psychology by the American Psychological Association

Recent books:

(with Rosital Albert), Handbook of Ethnic Conflict, Springer. (2012) Winner of the Gudykunst 2012 Award for best Intercultural Relations book.

(with Jason E. Warnick) Neuroscience in Intercultural Contexts, Springer (2015)

(with D.P.S. Bhawuk). Handbook of Intercultural Training, 4th Edition. Cambridge University Press (2020) Winner of the Gudykunst 2021-22 Award for best Intercultural Relations book.