Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Clinical Psychology

Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Psychology: Clinical Psychology

The Department of Psychology at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment to begin in August 2017 in the area of clinical psychology. The successful candidate will teach Abnormal Psychology, intermediate and advanced courses in his or her specialty area, and service courses such as Introduction to Psychology, Statistics, or Research Methods. Faculty members in the Department of Psychology are expected to maintain an active program of independent research, to engage students in the research process, and to demonstrate a commitment to and excellence in undergraduate teaching and mentoring in the context of liberal arts education.

A Ph.D. is required before the start of employment. This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits. Tenure track faculty are also eligible to receive substantial travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies.

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above along with a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, representative reprints (no more than three), a statement of teaching interests and philosophy, graduate and undergraduate transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation, at least one of which speaks explicitly to teaching experience. As a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college, Holy Cross is committed to the flourishing of a richly diverse academic community. In your letter and/or supporting materials, therefore, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission (see <http://www.holycross.edu/about-us/mission-statement>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion (<http://www.holycross.edu/diversity>). Review of applications will begin immediately and close on September 25. Questions about the position may be addressed to Mark Freeman, Chair, Department of Psychology, at mfreeman@holycross.edu. The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/36336>.

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. Holy Cross faculty have established significant research collaborations with faculty from Worcester's many colleges and universities. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.
