

The Winter 2022 issue of Indigenous Policy is now available on the web

Frank Kessel <frankskessel@gmail.com>

Dear Indigenous Policy Readers,

Hoping you are doing very well.

The Winter 2022 issue of Indigenous Policy is now available on the web at: <http://www.indigenouspolicy.org/>.

IPJ welcomes submissions of relevant articles to be refereed which go to our Editor: Leo Killisback, leo.killisback@montana.edu.

IPJ also welcomes submissions of research notes (non-refereed articles), commentary, reviews, news, media information and announcements concerning Native American and international Indigenous affairs, issues, events, nations, groups and media. We invite commentary and dialogue in and between issues, which go to Steve Sachs, ssachs@earthlink.net.

If you would like to join the advisory council which reviews submitted articles, contact Leo Killisback, leo.killisback@montana.edu.

IPJ* has a book review committee. People wishing to review books or other media, often receiving a free copy to review, and those wishing to have a book review should send a copy, to David Weiden, Assistant Professor of Political Science and Native American Studies, Metropolitan State University of Denver, King Center 494, Campus Box 43, P.O. Box 173362, Denver, CO 80217-3362, 303-556-4914, dweiden@msudenver.edu.

We welcome feedback on the content and format of our issues, which best go to Steve Sachs, ssachs@earthlink.net.

May all flow in beauty.

Warmly,

Steve Stephen M. Sachs, Senior Editor and Coordinator of the Editorial Board, IPJ.
